

(marked-up copy)

21. (Amended) A package of disposable transparent covers individually [formed] of a predetermined size in length and width for protecting the sterility of a keyboard of a computer, each said cover comprising [at least one] a transparent sheet of pliable plastic film of a predetermined size in length and width to contact and protect an entire upper surface of [the] a keyboard, said sheet inhibiting any unintentional contact between a keyboard and fingers of an operator while not impeding an operator's ability to manipulate a keyboard in a speedy and accurate manner.

24. (Amended) The package of Claim 21 wherein said sheet contacts and protects entire upper and bottom surfaces of a keyboard to maintain a keyboard sterile.

32. (Amended) a disposable transparent cover individually [formed and] having a predetermined size in length and width for protecting the sterility of a keyboard of a computer, comprising [at least one] a transparent sheet of pliable plastic film of a predetermined size in length and width to contact and overlie [protect] an entire upper surface of a keyboard, said sheet inhibiting any unintentional contact between a keyboard and fingers of an operator of a keyboard while not impeding an operator's ability to manipulate a keyboard in a speedy and accurate manner.

35. (Amended) The cover of Claim 32 wherein said sheet contacts and protects entire upper and bottom surfaces of a keyboard to maintain a keyboard sterile.

Cancel Claims 39 and 40 and rewrite in clean form as 41 and 42 which are attached hereto.